Retires from gov't service

Nannie W. Lyon

Nannie Watson Lyon (Mrs. Russell W. Lyon, Sr.), a resident of York County, retired recently after more than 27 years in Federal Service with the Department of Defense (DOD).

A retirement luncheon was held in her honor at the Fort Eustis Officers' Club, Fort Eustis, Va. by her co-workers and friends, who presented a gift of silver to her as a remembrance.

Colonel W. F. Musial, director of Industrial Operations, and representing the Commanding General at Fort Eustis, presented the Certificate of Retirement, and a Certificate of Appreciation for the many years of service she had given to our country.

Nannie grew up in Appomattox County where she attended public schools, graduating with the Appomattox High School Class of '37. Before entering Federal Service, she held positions with the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., Newport News, and with Noland Company, Inc. at its home office in Newport News.

In October, 1952 Nannie entered U.S. Civil Service, accepting a position in Headquarters, Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base, Va. She later transferred to the U.S. Army Transportation Center and Fort Eustis, Fort Eustis, Va., where she accepted an assignment in government procurement as a "Procurement Analyst", later serving as a "Contract Price Analyst". In 1963 she received her first appointment as a Contracting Officer for the United States of America, to execute contracts for the Command at Fort Eustis. She held this authority until retirement.

During Nannie's tenure of service in the Procurement Office, she served in the absence of the military chief until 1966, when she was promoted to Procurement Officer serving in a Deputy role as the civilian procurement officer. She held the distinction of being the first female civilian procurement officer in the Command, and the first in the entire Army area for installation procurements at that time.

One of the highlights in her career was her involvement in the Department of Defense-Wide Civilian Career Program for Procurement - from its beginning in 1966, when she attended indoctrination sessions in Washington, D.C., through to its complete implementation at Fort Eustis. In 1967 Nannie was appointed the Command Career Program Manager for Procurement, charged with implementing the Procurement Career Program at Fort Eustis. This assignment took her to many places during her career in preparation for the successful management of this program. She holds certificates of training from such schools as the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.; the US. AF Air University, AF Institute of Technology at Wright - Patterson AFB, Ohio; the U.S. Army Logistics Management Center, Fort Lee, Va., and others.

In recognition of her performance of duty through the years in the Procurement area, she received six Outstanding Performance Awards, one Sustained Superior Performance Award, in addition to earning Quality Step Increases. During her career years she also contributed volunteer services in support of community activities. She was awarded the Certificate of Outstanding Community Service by the Commanding General at Fort Eustis for her dedicated service to the Historical and Archaeological Association at Fort Eustis from its formulation in 1965 to 1977.

New secretarial service begins

Sarah Summers of Appomattox is starting a new business in town; a secretarial - services business.

Summers, known to many as the medical secretary in the Appomattox Family Practice Center, is not new to the private enterprise world. She owned a secretarial services business in Pennsylvania, before returning to her native Virginia.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Binford T. Phelps of Gladstone, she has been in Appomattox with her two sons, J. T. and Zane; for two years now.

The new business will be open only two days a week initially.

Summers says she will continue to work at the medical center, and Hazel Saunders will man the secretarial services office on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"The business will handle all types of typing," according to Summers. "Anyone who doesn't have a typewriter - - from students with term papers, to people who want a neat business letter typed up - - can come and have their typing done here."

The business will be located in the Appomattox Office Supplies office, in the same building with the Times-Virginian newspaper.

"While we'll only be operating on a part-time basis at first, we hope to eventually expand, possibly even to the point where we have a "Kelly Girl" service.

License fees will increase

The license fees paid by hunters and fishermen in Virginia will change this year, according to the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries. The cost of most licenses used by sportsmen will increase for the 1980 season, but Virginians who want to hunt and fish only in their home county or city will find the price of this license has been lowered. Beginning July 1, County or city resident fishing licenses will cost $3.00 and a statewide resident fishing license will sell for $7.50. A license to fish in stocked trout waters is $4.00. Non-resident licenses are: fishing - $15.00; stocked trout - $10.00. A five-day trip license for anglers remains unchanged at $3.00. Beginning in 1981 fishing licenses will be sold on an annual basis. Fishing licenses purchased this July will be good for 18 months through Decembr 1981.

The price of hunting and trapping licenses has also changed. A resident hunting license will cost 7.50 this year and a big game license for residents will also be $7.50. Non-residents will be paying $30.00 each for hunting and big game licenses. County and city hunting licenses are $3.00 the season. Trapping will cost $7.50 for a county-city license and $25.00 for a statewide permit. As in the past, hunting licenses are good from July 1 through June 30.
